

Sandpoint

The nearest human settlement. The goblins have been inside it exactly once.

Overview

A small coastal town on the Varisian shore, roughly three miles northwest of Brinestump Marsh as the crow flies. For the Licktoad tribe, Sandpoint was always the threat horizon — the place human adventurers come from, the place heroes disappear into, and the place goblins are expected never to reach.

The party reached it.

Campaign Events

- The Shalelu Deal: Shalelu Andosana brokered entry for the party. Cooperate with her at Thistletop — get access to Sandpoint. The party agreed.
- Ameiko's Imprisonment: The party found Ameiko Kaijitsu in the Thistletop dungeon (D9), not in Sandpoint. She had been imprisoned approximately five days. The party freed her. She told them the backstory: her half-brother Tsuto had organized the raid with Nualia; Lyrie Akenja was involved. Tsuto had her transported to Thistletop during the raid and betrayed her.
- Nualia's Objective: Nualia's stated goal was to burn Sandpoint to the ground and transform herself into a half-fiend in Lamashtu's service. She did not accomplish this. She was stopped at Thistletop.

Key Connections

- Shalelu Andosana — Visits periodically. Provided the deal that allowed goblin access.
- Ameiko Kaijitsu — Innkeeper, Tsuto's half-sister. Freed from Thistletop dungeon (D9).
- Tsuto Kaijitsu — Ameiko's half-brother. Organized the failed Sandpoint raid from Thistletop.
- Habe's Sanatorium — Lies south of Sandpoint on the road to Ashen Rise. The party passed it.

Location

Northwest of Brinestump Marsh, on the Varisian coast. On the road between Brinestump/Ashen Rise to the south and the wider Varisian interior to the north. The goblins entered from the south, having come from Ashen Rise and the Thistletop approach.
